

A White Mountains family musical retreat with offerings for people of all ages
Thursday-Thursday, June 22 - June 29, 2017

“T’IS NATURE’S VOICE”

Images of Nature in Music and Dance

The Early Music Week experience

- Workshops from beginning to advanced levels, taught by an experienced faculty of teacher/ performers
- Opportunity for dancers to immerse in weeklong historical dance classes.
- Voice, recorders, viols, lute, guitar, harpsichord, violin, cello, and other instruments.
- Mixed consorts as well as unmixed ensembles of recorders, viols or voices
- Faculty led reading sessions and plenty of time for informal playing. Bring your favorite music!
- Opportunity for children with appropriate ability to participate in classes.

“There seemed to be no end to the artistry of the faculty and the enthusiasm of the participants.”

2017 Faculty

- Jane Hershey (viol, co-director)
- Larry Wallach (keyboard, co-director)
- Pamela Dellal (mezzo-soprano)
- Héloïse Degrugillier (recorder)
- Anne Legêne (viol)
- Roy Sansom (recorder)
- Josh Schreiber Shalem (viol, Feldenkrais)
- Ken Pierce (historical dance)

Find out more at www.earlymusicweek.org

In addition to your daily classes, you (and your family, partners, and friends!) may also enjoy:

- The Faculty concert
- Student concerts (participation optional)
- A lecture providing historical overview of the theme
- Daily Feldenkrais® classes to increase musical ability and sensitivity, and the ease and comfort of everyday movement
- Renaissance Dances with live music from the faculty.

Everyone is invited, and all dances are taught.

A remarkable musical experience at a remarkably low cost!

Tuition: $275 until April 1, $300 thereafter.
(Some scholarships available)
Variable rates for room and board.

1. To make a reservation for accommodations:

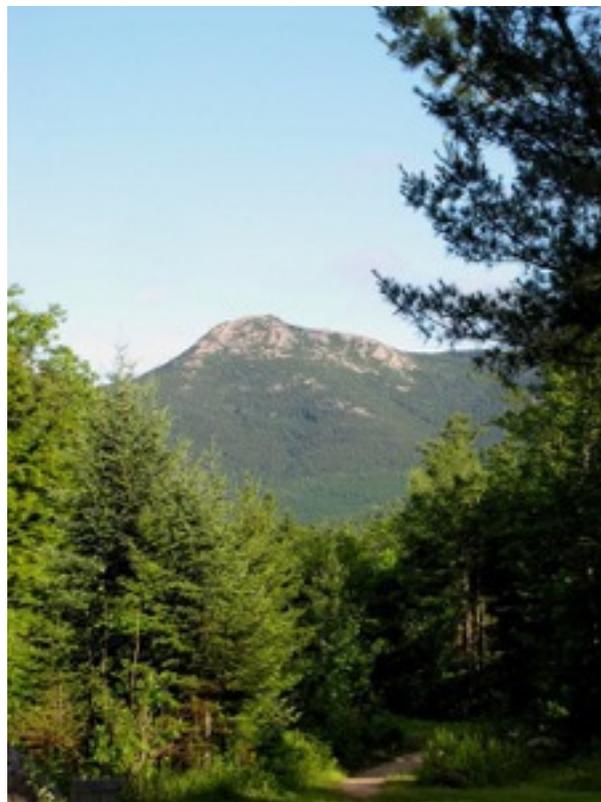

www.worldfellowship.org
603-447-2280, office@worldfellowship.org

2. For program registration & information:

www.earlymusicweek.org
Larry Wallach: 413-528-9065, larry@simons-rock.edu

World Fellowship Center

is an educational, international, interracial, multicultural, intergenerational vacation center offering a unique environment to renew body, mind and spirit. Set amid 455 acres in New Hampshire's White Mountains, the World Fellowship Center invites people from diverse social, economic and cultural backgrounds and identities to share their vacations and ideas in a peaceful, rustic setting.

- Lodging in picturesque New England style farmhouses, cottages, and campground.
- Hiking, swimming, boating, volleyball and fabulous mountain scenery.
- Delicious homestyle meals featuring produce from World Fellowship's own organic gardens.

PO Box 2280, Conway, NH, 03818
Drive to: 368 Drake Hill Road, Albany NH